Dual Degree Program

Study in Arts and Humanities or Social Sciences and earn two bachelor’s degrees—one from University of Hong Kong and one from University of California, Berkeley. Spend your first two years in Hong Kong, one of the most vibrant and cosmopolitan regions in Asia, and your last two years in Berkeley, one of America’s most culturally and intellectually rich municipalities. The program concludes with a capstone project that demonstrates what you have learned at the two universities. All four years of instruction are offered in English.

- Immerse yourself in two of the world’s leading universities brimming with passionate learners, innovative researchers, and curious minds

- Prepare for an increasingly globalized world by gaining a unique international mindset

- Establish academic and professional networks in two of the world’s greatest entrepreneurial hubs: the San Francisco Bay Area and Southern China’s Greater Bay Area

University of Hong Kong

The University of Hong Kong (HKU) is one of the premier universities in Asia and boasts many internationally ranked programs. HKU attracts students and researchers from all over the world, which fosters a culture of global learning and discovery. Driven by technology and innovation, HKU inspires students to be future-minded in their pursuit of tackling worldwide challenges. The general curriculum you will study at the University of Hong Kong is in the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Social Sciences.

Hong Kong and Greater Bay Area

Hong Kong is a thriving, autonomous territory and one of the most important financial centers in the world. Populated by nearly 7.5 million people of varying nationalities, Hong Kong has developed into one of the world's most diverse and international urban centers. The budding, forward thinking region, known as the Greater Bay Area in Southern China seeks to soon become a major world player in the areas of entrepreneurship, innovation, and technological advancement.

University of California, Berkeley

UC Berkeley, is the number one public university in the world and internationally renowned for its history of breakthrough discoveries across various academic fields. The culturally and ethnically diverse student population mirrors the vast range of courses, majors, and disciplines offered across the 14 colleges and schools on the Berkeley campus. The most creative and inventive minds are attracted to UC Berkeley looking to add to the university’s intellectual environment. While at UC Berkeley you will study in the College of Letters and Science in the division of Arts and Humanities or Social Sciences.

Berkeley and the San Francisco Bay Area

With flourishing art, music and film communities, Berkeley is one of the America’s most culturally eclectic cities. Berkeley’s downtown area is the center of the city and features numerous shops, restaurants, theatres all easily accessible by foot. The city of Berkeley is part of the larger San Francisco Bay Area region of California, which has become notorious around the world for its technological and entrepreneurial richness. Major company headquarters located in the SF Bay Area include Google, Facebook, Uber, Airbnb, Netflix and many more.
